EDF Energies Nouvelles is commissioning a new 16 MW wind farm in France

Following its local inauguration on 12 October 2007, the Luc-sur-Orbieu wind farm located in the Aude department has now officially entered service.

The eight wind turbines were supplied by German manufacturer REpower. Of the 16 MW in total installed capacity, 4 MW has been sold as part of EDF Energies Nouvelles' Development and Sale of Structured Assets segment.

The wind farm has received active support from the municipal authorities in Luc-Sur-Orbieu and Ornaisons. Located in the middle of vineyards in a wine-growing region, the wind farm was the subject of a great deal of consultation with local industry players, in particularly the AOC Corbières wine union and the Ornaisons wine cooperative.

The Luc-sur-Orbieu wind farm provides further evidence of the momentum of EDF Energies Nouvelles' expansion in France. To date, EDF EN France has built 155.5 MW in capacity for its own account and on behalf of third parties and has another 231 MW under construction.
